Record of Woodland Area Plans and Activities

Goals
(If necessary, refer to factsheet Where Do I Begin? A Forest Is More Than A Bunch Of Trees to review the suggested property inventory, planning tips & preference ranking):

☐ Enhance Riparian Buffer Areas to attract a variety of wildlife species & protect stream from sediments.

Record of Activities (planned and completed):
Use this area to record activities you wish to undertake on your property.

☐ Replant eroded areas near streambank with recommended native mast producing trees, shrubs, & plants.           Sept. 2001        April 2002

☐ Divert upland runoff from access road to dissipate parallel to the stream where natural woodland buffer is thick and land is flat.                               April 2002

Notes:  Need to control upland runoff problems before planting eroded areas.____________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________
Goals
(If necessary, refer to factsheet Where Do I Begin? A Forest Is More Than A Bunch Of Trees to review the suggested property inventory, planning tips & preference ranking):

Record of Activities (planned and completed):
Use this area to record activities you wish to undertake on your property.

Notes:
______________________________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________________________

Record of Activities (planned and completed):                  Date Planned   Date Completed

Notes:: ______________________________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________________________